21st Education - Rethinking People, Places, Spaces & Resources: The Age of Artificial Intelligence & Virtual Learning

When: October 3, 2019 – 9 am – 12 pm

Where: Léman School, 1 Morris Street, Manhattan

Who: School leadership, Admission’s office, Development leaders, and/or the decision makers

The first 3-hour workshop will help school leadership honestly define today’s education environment and analyze why there is a systematic need for rethinking our current educational models and practices. Additionally, we will look at what is working, population trends and the impact on enrollment, all leading to a conversation about learning models that meet the needs of today’s students. Go to www.nyscirs.org, and click the Executive Leadership Conference Tab to register!

The training will continue with a follow-up session at the RISE Conference November 4 & 5, and webinars in November and December, all putting your school in a new market position for the 2020 – 2021 school year.

October 3rd AGENDA

I. Defining Today’s Education Environment Honestly
II. Defining Today’s Work Environment Honestly
III. Ideation: The mindset of Design Thinking in Redesigning our model
IV. Potential impacts of AI, virtual learning, technology on our schools

Sponsored by The NYS Coalition for Independent and Religious Schools with support from Title IIA State Set Aside Funds
The conversations will be presented by Hudson Global Scholars and hosted by NYSCIRS.

Sponsored by The NYS Coalition for Independent and Religious Schools with support from Title IIIA State Set Aside Funds