Developing Emergency Response Plans: Principles and Process

The following is selected content from The Readiness and Emergency Management for Schools \(REMS\) Technical Assistance Center Guide for Developing High-Quality School Emergency Operations Plans . The Emergency Operations Plan (EOP) is anchored in three main pillars:

The first pillar is an INTEGRATED, COLLABORATIVE APPROACH — the plan is developed with the notion that everyone has expertise to share and that planning should be a collaborative effort aligned at all levels for a common purpose — to create a safe learning environment for children.

In January 2013, following the Sandy Hook Elementary School shooting in Newtown, President Obama put forward his “Now is the Time” plan to reduce gun violence. One of the executive actions put forth in his plan was the development of this new guide by the U.S. Departments of Education (ED); Justice (DOJ), led by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI); Homeland Security (DHS), led by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA); and Health and Human Services (HHS). In doing so, President Obama charged the top Federal agencies — ED, DOJ, FBI, DHS, FEMA, and HHS — to work together to provide the best possible guidance to communities on how to plan for and recover from the many emergency situations they may encounter. These agencies were tasked with using systems, such as NIMS and ICS, that would allow for integration of approaches by agencies or stakeholders that may not commonly or routinely work together but would necessitate these stakeholders to respond uniformly if an emergency incident occurred. This directive is known as the Presidential Policy Directive-8.

The second pillar is the FIVE PREPAREDNESS MISSIONS — the plan is developed with the notion that specific, complementary activities along a continuum foster a safe learning environment for children.

PPD-8 describes and defines the nation’s approach to preparedness around five mission areas:

Prevention, Mitigation, Protection, Response, and Recovery.

It represents an evolution in our collective understanding of national preparedness and is based on the lessons learned from terrorist attacks, hurricanes, school incidents, and other experiences.

- Prevention means the capabilities necessary to avoid, deter, or stop an imminent crime or threatened or actual mass casualty incident.
- Mitigation means the capabilities necessary to eliminate or reduce the loss of life and property damage by lessening the impact of an event or emergency.
- Protection means the capabilities to secure schools against acts of violence and manmade or natural disasters.
- Response means the capabilities necessary to stabilize an emergency once it has already happened or is certain to happen in an unpreventable way.
- Recovery means the capabilities necessary to assist schools affected by an event or emergency in restoring the learning environment.

These mission areas generally align with the three timeframes associated with an incident: before, during, and after. When planning, we use the paradigm before, during and after and consider actions we can take to help build capacity in each of the five mission areas. For example, we need to be ready to respond and recover throughout all five mission areas.

The third pillar is the PLANNING PRINCIPLES — The following principles are key to developing a comprehensive high-quality school EOP that addresses a range of threats and hazards.

1. Planning must be supported by leadership. This principle translates into district-level prioritization of resources; allocation of time, budget, staff, etc.; and integration into district vision, policies, and practice.
2. Next, effective planning is built around comprehensive, ongoing assessment of the school community. Data gathered through assessments are used to customize plans to the building level, taking into consideration the school’s unique circumstances and resources.
3. A comprehensive school emergency planning process must take into account a wide range of possible threats and hazards that may impact the school, addressing safety needs before, during, and after an incident. The assessments, community data, and local trends will help to identify the threats and hazards in a specific school setting.
4. A key consideration is how specific threats and hazards might differ in severity depending on the population impacted. What are the access and functional needs of the whole school community? Are there students, staff, family, contractors, and other visitors who
 - Have mobility issues (temporary or permanent) (e.g., sports injury, pregnancy, aging, wheelchair);
 - Are in the process of learning English and require additional linguistic support;
 - Have a disability that impairs the way they receive and process information (e.g., autism, blind/deaf);
 - Are from a different racial/ethnic, cultural or religious background that requires considerations on particular safety practices, or
 - Require medical assistance (e.g., diabetic).
5. School EOPs must account for incidents that may occur during and outside the school day as well as on and off campus. This is even more significant now that schools have hybrid learning environments that may include outdoor classes, lunch, and other school activities. Examples include
 - Outside activities (e.g., recess, physical education);
 - Before and after school (e.g., the school bus, gathering times and places immediately before and after school);
 - Outside of the school day (e.g., after school programs, athletic programs, clubs, school dances, weekend sporting events); and
 - Field trips during the school day and extended trips.
6. Creating and revising a model school EOP is done by following a collaborative process. If a planning team also uses templates, it must first evaluate their usefulness to ensure that the tools do not undermine the collaborative initiative and collectively shared plan. Do not get stuck on what has been; focus on what needs to be.

STEPS IN THE PLANNING PROCESS

The TEAM (identified as part of Step 1) should work through these six steps to create and implement its school's EOP. Schools and districts can use this process to

- Develop a plan;
- Do a comprehensive review of their existing plan; and
- Conduct reviews of their plan's component parts.

These steps are sequenced to support a collaborative process, which invites multiple perspectives for information gathering, prioritizing, goal setting, execution of specific activities, and evaluation. The process is intended to be cyclical and ongoing.

The building-level emergency response team is responsible for the designation of the emergency response team and the development of the building-level emergency response plan and its required components. The building-level emergency response team shall include, but not be limited to, representatives of teacher, administrator, and parent organizations, school safety personnel, other school personnel, community members, local law enforcement officials, local ambulance, fire officials or other emergency response agencies, and any other representatives the school board, chancellor or other governing body deems appropriate.

Incident Command System (ICS) for Schools

Incident Command System (ICS) is a component of the National Incident Management System (NIMS). ICS helps enhance emergency communications and allows multiple agencies to work together effectively during difficult and dangerous circumstances. ICS provides a standardized approach to incident management, regardless of cause, size, location, or complexity. By using ICS during an incident, schools can more effectively work with the responders in their communities.

New York State Schools are required to define a chain of command in a manner consistent with ICS (CR 155.17(c)(2)(v)).

Building-Level Emergency Response Plan: Your School Building

CR 155.17(c)(2) Building-level emergency response plan shall be developed by the building-level emergency response team, shall be kept confidential, including but not limited to the floor plans, blueprints, schematics or other maps of the immediate surrounding area, and shall not be disclosed except to authorized department or school staff, and law enforcement officers, and shall include the following elements: (iii) floor plans, blueprints, schematics or other maps of the school interior, school grounds and road maps of the immediate surrounding area.

Functional Annex Considerations

CR 155.17(2) Building-level emergency response plan. A building-level emergency response plan shall be developed by the building-level emergency response team, shall be kept confidential, including but not limited to the floor plans, blueprints, schematics or other maps of the immediate surrounding area, and shall not be disclosed except to authorized department or school staff, and law enforcement officers, and shall include the following elements:

- (i) policies and procedures for the response to emergency situations, such as those requiring evacuation, sheltering, and lock-down, which shall include, at a minimum, the description of plans of action for evacuation, sheltering, lock-down, evacuation routes and shelter sites, and procedures for addressing medical needs, transportation and emergency notification to persons in parental relation to a student;
- (iv) establishment of internal and external communication systems in emergencies;
- (vi) coordination of the building-level emergency response plan with the statewide plan for disaster mental health services to assure that the school has access to Federal, State and local mental health resources in the event of a violent incident;
- (viii) policies and procedures for securing and restricting access to the crime scene in order to preserve evidence in cases of violent crimes on school property.

Safety Teams and Emergency Response teams develop Functional Annexes specific and detailed for the actions that need to happen.

- Provide specific information and direction
- Focus on what the function is and who is responsible for carrying it out
- Emphasize responsibilities, tasks, and operational actions that pertain to the function being covered
- Explain how the school manages each function before, during, and after an incident

In addition to the information from the Annex Worksheets (Goals, Objectives, and Courses of Action), the following are considerations for each Annex:

Functional Annex Considerations
<input type="checkbox"/>	Shelter in Place* ⁺

<input type="checkbox"/>	What supplies will be needed to seal the room and to provide for the needs of students and staff (e.g., water)
<input type="checkbox"/>	How a shelter-in-place can affect individuals with disabilities and others with access and functional needs such as students who require the regular administration of medication, durable medical equipment, and personal assistant services.
<input type="checkbox"/>	How to move students when the primary route is unusable.
<input type="checkbox"/>	How to locate and move students who are not with a teacher or staff member.
<input type="checkbox"/>	Procedures to turn off utilities and ventilation systems.

	<input type="checkbox"/>	Specify where evacuating from and where evacuating to on-site.
	<input type="checkbox"/>	Off-site evacuation locations are established prior to an emergency. Should provide shelter from the elements and should be in location that will not interfere with emergency response when re-unifying students with parents/guardians.
	<input type="checkbox"/>	At least two off-site evacuation sites are off your school grounds; procedures for routinely checking evacuation sites and routes; procedures for updating MOUs.
	<input type="checkbox"/>
<input type="checkbox"/>	Lockout⁺

Designing a Tabletop Exercise

The purpose of a Tabletop Exercise is to provide an opportunity for your team to review and discuss their responses to a simulated incident and to identify the information, actions, and notifications that are needed. A Tabletop Exercise is intended to generate discussion of various issues regarding a hypothetical, simulated emergency. Tabletop Exercises can be used to enhance general awareness, validate plans and procedures, rehearse concepts, and/or assess the types of systems needed to guide the prevention of, mitigation of, protection from, response to, and recovery from a defined incident. Generally, Tabletop Exercises are aimed at facilitating conceptual understanding, identify strengths and areas for improvement, and/or achieving changes in perceptions.

Compose a narrative/scenario

What is the narrative for the simulated situation?

What story will set the stage and encourage participants to think about the problem?

Setting: It is 1:05 Wednesday afternoon, and school is in session. The temperature is 20 degrees Fahrenheit outside.

Incident: A water pipe bursts, and water is leaking into the hallway near the nurse’s office and cafeteria.

A member of the staff notices a wet hallway and calls the main office. The main office dispatches the maintenance team.

The maintenance team turns off the water, but the hallway is still wet and possibly slippery.

Action: The principal assumes the role of Incident Commander (as previously determined) and implements a Hold-in-Place to keep students and staff out of the affected hallway.

The principal uses the intercom system to instruct staff to immediately implement a Hold-in-Place procedure.

The Incident Commander assembles the building emergency response team and activates the ICS.

A Tabletop Exercise is intended to generate discussion of various issues regarding a hypothetical, simulated emergency. Tabletop Exercises can be used to enhance general awareness, validate plans and procedures, rehearse concepts, and/or assess the types of systems needed to guide the prevention of, mitigation of, protection from, response to, and recovery from a defined incident. Generally, Tabletop Exercises are aimed at facilitating conceptual understanding, identifying strengths and areas for improvement, and/or achieving changes in perceptions.

Tabletop Exercise: Lockdown

The purpose of a Tabletop Exercise is to provide an opportunity for your team to review and discuss their responses to a simulated incident and to identify the information, actions, and notifications that are needed. A Tabletop Exercise is intended to generate discussion of various issues regarding a hypothetical, simulated emergency. Tabletop Exercises can be used to enhance general awareness, validate plans and procedures, rehearse concepts, and/or assess the types of systems needed to guide the prevention of, mitigation of, protection from, response to, and recovery from a defined incident. Generally, Tabletop Exercises are aimed at facilitating conceptual understanding, identifying strengths and areas for improvement, and/or achieving changes in perceptions.
